Short Description:

Lip Smack's "I Did It for the Likes (Flex Version)" is a bright Los Angeles dance-pop single built around online culture, glossy hooks, and the restless energy of chasing attention in public.

Long Description:

Released May 29, 2026, “I Did It for the Likes (Flex Version)” finds Lip Smack turning the language of social media performance into a sharp, high-energy pop record. The Los Angeles-based project frames online flexing, nightlife, image-making, and digital validation through a bright dance-pop sound built for movement and repeat play.

The single is direct, hook-centered, and self-aware. Rather than treating internet culture from a distance, the track steps inside the loop of posting, posing, wanting, and performing. Its chorus carries the humor and pressure of a world where attention has become both currency and confession.

Issued by Ringtone Records 26, the independent label founded by Brice Salek, the release continues the label’s catalog of compact, highly focused pop recordings designed for streaming, playlist discovery, short-form video use, and sync-friendly licensing.
